Veiled and Hidden in Closed
Litters They See New Monarch Unveil Statue.

DELHI, India, Dec. 8.—A constant stream of gorgeously attired potentates poured in upon King George this afternoon to pay their official calls. All were accompanied by their bodyguards, Prime Ministers and court officials, and the troops had great difficulty in holding back sightseers and the natives, who believed they should be allowed the privilege of accompanying their rulers.

In the afternoon the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress unveiled the huge equestrian statue of King Edward subscribed for by the British inhabitants and native officials. The statue is called the "All India Memorial."

The unveiling ceremony was a brilliant spectacle. The streets were lined with troops, and the picturesque Royal Highlanders and the King's Royal Rifles, together with detachments of native troops, formed a cordon around the statue.

Most of the Indian princes were present, and special arrangements had been made to allow the hika caste "purdah" (veiled) ladies, ranees, sultanas and princesses to witness the show without being under the gaze of the public. The beauties of the various princely harems were conveyed to the scene of the unveiling in closed litters from which they could peep at the King and Queen and get a glimpse of the great statue without being seen by other spectators.

Following the ceremony, George and Mary returned to the royal camp and entertained a number of British officials at an informal dinner.

PICKPOCKETS IN SUBWAY.

Judge Mulqueen Sends One to Sing Sing for Five Years.

Judge Mulqueen, in General Sessions, today declared that the subway is infested with pickpockets. In sentencing Henry Morton of No. 55 West Sixty-eighth street, who was arrested while "tapping" a sleeping passenger in the Bowling Green station Oct. 22, Judge Mulqueen said:

"It is hard to catch pickpockets who ply their trade in the subway, but when we do catch them we make a point of giving them the limit in sentence. It is well to let pickpockets, especially those who steal from persons who fall asleep on their way home late at night, know how we do deal with them."

Morton was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for five years and six months. He had been convicted of grand larceny in the first degree.

GERMAN PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED BY DECREE.

Proroguing Edict Broadened Now
That "Emergencies" Have Passed
—Elections Jan. 12.

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—Decree dissolving the Reichstag and fixing the date of the general elections for the new Reichstag on Jan. 12 are published in the Imperial Gazette today. The existence of what is known as "Prinze von Buelow's Reichstag," which was elected under such different auspices in 1907, is thus ended. The preceding Reichstag had been summarily dissolved owing to its adverse vote connected with the appropriations for military operations in Southwest Africa.

The edict, which was read in the Reichstag on Dec. 6, merely prorogued and did not dissolve the Parliament, as it was desired that the members should be in a position of being called together again in certain emergencies which are now passed.

BLOWUP IN SHAFT GIVES FIFTH AVE. BAD SHAKING UP

Workmen in Catskill Tunnel
Strike Dynamite and Explosion Follows.

Two "hard rock" men cleaning up after a blast today in the new shaft of the Catskill aqueduct which runs under the East Drive in Central Park struck a loose stick of dynamite with their picks, and caused a terrific explosion which buried them under a mass of dirt and rock, and caused a panic on Fifth Avenue among the wealthy residents.

Angelo Tanilski, forty-eight years old, of No. 45 Great Jones street, and Romeo Patalski, forty-five years, of No. 257 Pleasant avenue, who with fifty other laborers were at work in the shaft, which is eighty feet below ground, had just started to clean away in the shaft immediately under Seventy-ninth street and the East Drive, when the explosion occurred.

Tanilski and Patalski had been drilling during the morning in the shaft and had prepared several blasts. The blast continued all during the day and the surrounding neighborhood has become accustomed to it. But when the two laborers went down into the shaft immediately after one blast and accidentally struck the loose dynamite, explosions not being far enough apart from the previous one and louder because of the fact that it was not covered, caused great excitement.

Policeman John Reilly was standing just below Seventy-ninth street on the East Drive when the explosion occurred. When he reached the bottom of the shaft he found an excited crowd of laborers who were trying to dig out Tanilski and Patalski, who were unconscious and buried under the debris the explosion had caused. The two men were taken to the street by their comrades who tried to revive them while waiting for the ambulance from the Presbyterian Hospital, but their efforts were unavailing.

When Dr. Worcester arrived he said that it was probable that both men would lose their eyesight from the force of the explosion, but that they would not die from their injuries. The police explained why a loose stick of dynamite was lying about in a shaft eighty feet deep where scores of men are constantly at work. They have made no arrests.

WALL STREET.

The same slow, dragging tendency that has characterized sessions this week was again in progress at the outset of today's stock market. Opening slightly lower, the list during the first hour moved aimlessly around, lacking a definite trend. Reading was used as a medium in an unsuccessful attempt to elevate the market following the start, but a fresh supply of professional selling orders caused the list to seek a downward movement.

In the subsequent reaction Steel, Union and Northern Pacific, Copper and Wabash preferred yielded the easiest.

Stocks fell with considerable force during the middle period. A selling attack, aimed chiefly against Steel, Union Pacific and Reading, lowered the entire list about 1 point below the initial. Steel reacted to 60-1/2, Reading to 162-1/2 and Union to 160-1/2.

A spirited rally developed in the last half hour. Led by Copper and Steel, the market worked its way up to nearly the final range of yesterday. The finish was irregularly lower.
